Entertainment Tonight. Because it was my effort through the song to tell him how much he meant to me. 26 of 42 'prayers' by Kesha After a lengthy legal battle is trying to free herself from a contract with a producer who allegedly drugged and assaulted her, Kesha released this powerful song in 2017. In a piece for Lenny Letter, Kesha wrote, This song is about feeling sympathy for someone else even if they hurt you or scare you. It's a song about being proud of the person you're doing even during short moments when you feel alone. It's also about everyone's expectation, even someone who can hurt you, heal. 27 of 42 'You Haven't Got You Yet' by Michael Bublé 28 42 'I Walk The Line' by Johnny Cash' was written by Johnny Cash for one of the most iconic country songs ever written by Johnny Cash as a declaration of allegiance to his first wife, Vivian. It was like prodding yourself, 'Play it straight, Johnny,' Cash reportedly said. One of the greatest rock hits of all time from the 42-of-29 'Stop Believin' journey was inspired by a conversation that the travelling keyboardist, Jonathan Cain, had with his father shortly after he moved to LA in hopes of landing a big break. I said, 'Dad, should I just give up on this thing and come home?' It feels like I can push it back to Chicago. 'No, no, don't come home. To stick to your point. Don't stop believing'. I went, 'Ok. '30 of 42' when Dove Cry' prince Prince wrote the song for the Purple Rain soundtrack. According to a biography written by Per Nilsen, his spur for the track when Dove Cry had his tumultuous relationship with Susan Moonsey, a member of music group Apollonia 6. 6.
